David Lill : Cows Like You've Never Seen before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Cows Like You've Never Seen:

I showed it to a 3 year old who loved it. I don't think it was designed for a childrens book but she was picking out all her favorites. It reminded me of the cows coming down from the Alps in the fall with their large bells and floral hats.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Accola HusmanDavid Lill's picture book reveals not only the personalities of cows but of the Brown Swiss breed itself. They are attention-loving almost to the point of being pests. His pictures capture the connection that farmers of this breed cannot help but make with their herd. The animals transform you. They work on your soul every minute that you are with them and whether you want to or not, you come to love them. Each animal has its own personality and each one reminds you of people you know or situations you've been in. Brown Swiss are living "Farsides." I bought one for each of my 11 brothers and sisters. We grew up on a Brown Swiss dairy farm in Wisconsin. I didn't need to write a personal note to each brother or sister because David Lill's pictures speak for themselves.

David Lill is a bachelor dairy farmer who lives in northern Minnesota. With affection and regard that most people would consider uncommon in his vocation, David photographs his glamour cows. "These gentle creatures give so much of themselves," he says, "that I thought it was time to have some fun. They seem to enjoy it too." For those who think cows are only lumps on a hillside - think again! This "udderly" charming book explores the lighter side of David's vocation. These "amooosing" photos bring humor and compassion to the tough life of dairy farming. This far from soft and easy lifestyle has its own variety of glamour. These cows emerge as memorable individuals worthy of time and loving care. Explore the possibility that even the most vigorous and demanding lifestyle can be brightened by looking at cows at a different angle...like you've never seen!
