Heather Mann : CraftFail: When Homemade Goes Horribly Wrong before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised CraftFail: When Homemade Goes Horribly Wrong:

When they happen, I tend to just laugh at the mess; but I learn from them and improve. No fun there. If I were a very serious crafter with no sense of humor, I'd be in therapy and have ulcers. I'm glad someone else can laugh at craft disasters and have the talent to put them into a very enjoyable book. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Giggle-Inducing Laugh Therapy By Sunny Day This is one hilarious little book. The photos are funny and the text is even better. Very witty and giggle-inducing. I loaned it to my mother-in-law who has not been feeling well. It gave her a lift! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Hilarious. By Pamela Barquest Absolutely hilarious! Really enjoyed it and shared with many friends.

Poor Bridgit, who overestimated the size of her headher homemade frilly lace shower cap came straight down to her chin. And who can blame Lindsey for thinking glitter shoes sounded like a cool, easy project instead of what it turned out to be: a puddle of sparkling glop. And really, whoever posted that incredible Spaghetti-Stuffed Garlic Bread on Pinterest should be sued. When Mindy pulled hers from the oven, it looked like a hot mess of intestines streaming out of doughy flesh. Mmmm, thank you, Pinterest! Written by Heather Mann, publisher of CraftFail.com, her hilarious blog with millions of page views and hundreds of thousands of followers, CraftFail celebrates the creative process, but from the other side. This is the stuff that gets the A for Effort and LOL for outcome. But once the laughter dies down, it also inspires a warm feel-good respect for crafters who aren't afraid to fail. After all, even if there's not a mortal alive except Martha who can make a Waxed Heart worthy of hanging in your window to catch the sun, why shouldn't many try? When it goes wrong, why shouldn't the rest of us enjoy this Epic Fail? And then look at all the full-color photos that document it. Home decor fails, fashion fails, holiday fails, food fails, kid crafting fails as one anonymous crafter said: It wasn't supposed to end this way. Luckily for us, it did.

Heather Mann's new book, CraftFail, is a hoot. You'll be laughing until you cry and then you'll feel relieved that you're not the only one who tried to make a gingerbread house that was more horror than fairy tale. Austin American-Statesman Laugh-out-loud. I think all of us who have ever held a glue gun with the intent on creating the most magical of items but find themselves in a mess of hot glue sticking to everything except said project can relate and will enjoy this book. Parade Magazine
