beat cop in the most crime-ridden city in the United States. To Dave Smith, life is not something to lived, it's an adventure to be experienced, and Dave shares some of his most memorable moments in the new book, "In My Sights." A collection of humorous essays by the creator of the J.D. `Buck' Savage, "In My Sights" contains lessons in leadership, perseverance, forgiveness, tolerance, survival and so much more. This book is guaranteed to make you think, weep, question, remember, and of course, laugh out loud. It's everything you expect from one of America's top law enforcement trainers, and so much more. Like Dave Smith himself, this book is "entertainment" at its very best. Written for cops but perfect for anyone with a heart, a soul and an attitude. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great Book, Nice Read By Owen This is a nice short book with some of the humorous sides of law enforcement showcased. Well worth a read if you have a little time to kill. I would gladly recommend this to other brothers and sisters in blue. Other folks may not get all the humor. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. In My Sights By Lou A. Hamblin Dave Smith is a gift to the law enforcement community. For over twenty-five years he has shared his insight, philosophy and humor with those who are fortunate enough to be a part of his audience. He is one of the most quoted trainers and public speakers and has literally changed the lives of thousands of public safety professionals. Readers will find this masterfully crafted piece of work both educational and entertaining. An instant classic! I'm looking forward to the sequel.

Book by Smith, Dave

About the Author Former police lieutenant Dave Smith is an internationally known speaker, writer and law enforcement trainer. After graduating from the University of Arizona, Dave began his police career in 1975 with the Tucson, Arizona Police Department. In 1978 he joined the Arizona Department of Public Safety and during his police career Dave held positions in Patrol, SWAT, Narcotics, Training and Management. In 1980 he developed the popular "J.D. Buck Savage" video training series, was the lead instructor for the Calibre Press "Street Survival" seminar from 1983 to 1985, and was instrumental in developing Calibre's timeless "Tactical Edge" officer survival book. Dave joined the Law Enforcement Television Network in 1989, developing and hosting cutting-edge police, security and public safety training as LETN's Director of Education and was the general manager of Calibre Press until January of 2002. Now president of Dave Smith Associates, Dave continues to develop hundreds of programs across the spectrum of police corporate training needs. Dave is now the senior instructor of the "Street Survival" seminar, a regular columnist for Police magazine, the Calibre Press Newslines, PoliceOne.Com and the Director of Video Training for Police One TV. He and his wife Betsy Brantner Smith train law enforcement personnel internationally through their company "Winning Mind Seminars." Dave is proud of his alter-ego, Officer J.D. "Buck" Savage, and can be reached through his website at www.jdbucksavage.com or of course, you can "friend" Buck on Facebook.
