CREATIVEBy A CustomerI havent actually read the whole book but I dont even need to because the beginning was well written enough that I could easily remark on the book's diversity. That is what it is, this book is diverse and unique. Anyone can put together odd legal cases but these are put together in a way that it is almost like a story. A story of the flaws and quirks the legal systems around the world. This is a great book and I strongly recommend it.

Find out how attorneys and judges of this world really earn their daily bread. There is the judge whose amorous proclivities excluded no one, not even the rest of the court. How about the attorney who spent an entire night in the overly intimate embrace of a condom machine. Even when attorneys are working hard...how serious can you be about a one-eyed man who sues a movie theatre, claiming he should only pay half the admission price because he can only see half the movie? Or the woman who sues after her successful heart transplant, claiming her sudden embarrassing urges to do somersaults and backflips at inappropriate times are due to the heart she received from a 24 year old motorcycle victim, who happened to be a circus acrobat. There are light moments everywhere in the law courts of the land and Eric Chodak and Barry Seltzer have put together a collection of some of the more unusual, funny and bizarre gems.

About the Author Barry Seltzer - graduated from Sir George Williams University and McGill University and established his own Law Practice in the areas of Estate Planning, Trusts, Elder Law and Estate Administration. He contributes articles regularly to various papers, magazines and publications both serious and humorous. He hosted the Law Show and Law, Lawyers and You on Cable T.V. and has appeared as a frequent guest on many other T.V. and radio shows. Eric Chodak - was born in Calgary, Alberta. He was a writer, a movie critic, and a full time practicing attorney. He had a wonderful sense of humor and mischief. This book stands as a tribute to him.
