a small company or a large one. If your job depicts the movie "Office Space", then you've found your bible! Move over Stephen Covey... Fred Talbott has a new outlook on the workplace. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. The Office Space of paper back!!! By B. E. Hole If your office depicts the movie "Office Space", then here's a book for you! Whether you've worked for a small or a large company, they all have their quirks. Move over Stephen Covey, Fred Talbott has a different outlook on Highly Effective People! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. What they don't teach in Business School By A Customer Dilbert for the MBA. Thinking of a business career? Professor Pinhead has been there done that. This hilarious romp through the world of corporate travel, the cubicle farm, the HR petting zoo, and the management jerks from hell will be familiar to the veterans and a caution for the newbies and wannabees. Highly recommended, but be advised, take just a bit each day lest you be overcome by a mixture of unstoppable laughter and the queasy feeling that these are the folks who are running/ruining the business world. What I liked especially about this book is that it serves both as a look in the mirror for the mid-level wonk, the VP, the HR dominatrix, and the CEO but a you-are-not-alone solace for the employee/customer/victim.

The biggest crisis facing business today is assholes--). (s. After 795 jobs, JJ's seen it all. Quitting the day the). (s show up, he roams the workplace as the anti-guru, the mirror, sharing truths about why so much about business sucks and what we can do about it. JJ's signs you picked the wrong-Job: Boss exorcism fails, leaving green puke all over your desk. Business airline: Matching pair of aisle-seating dropped-overhead-baggage concussions. Head hunter: Asks if you've ever trained attack dogs. Business hotel: Concierge lapel pin reads "Bite me!" Business lunch restaurant: Your choice of live chickens. Corporate location: Gang graffiti corporate logo. Bank: Branch manager accidentally wipes his ass on your loan application. Lobbyist: Drives up to Capitol, blows horn, throws your brochures out the window. Receptionist: Takes time out of each busy day to bitch-slap the FedEx delivery guy. Wacky bosses, empowerment, briefings, meetings, finances, small offices, mentors, commuting, business locations, new hires, boards of directors, annual reports, desks, parking garages, new products, virtual corporations, change, rental cars, resumes, downsizing, mergers, e-business, lawyers, competition, advertising, office royalty, consultants, conventions, and many, many more- JJ's seen it all!

About the Author Fred Talbott has taught more than 2,000 managers stand-up comedy... and how to avoid taking themselves and their lives too seriously. He's also taught comedy writing to White House speech writers and contributed gags to NBC's Saturday Night Live's "Weekend Update" and to the late Jeff MacNelly's "Shoe" cartoon. His talent is grabbing life and its hilarity and lessons and holding them up for everyone to see ... and laugh at. The alter-ego of JJ's Professor Pin head, Fred has spent the past 20 years as a university professor and legendary corporate and convention speaker and trainer.
