A.J. Smith : Joe Paterno The Musical: A Satire before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Joe Paterno The Musical: A Satire:

If Penn State offered to pay me $6.5 million to prove the moon was made of green cheese I could probably find reasons why it is. A better investigation would have been made by the FBI's BAU or the County/State's Special Victims Unit, Not Freeh, who was questionable from the start. Mike McQueary cowardly ran out of the locker room after observing a ten year old boy getting molested. Most "real" men would have approached the situation head on and called police and tried to stop the abuse, not run. The only guilty person in this affair was Sandusky, yet Joe Pa got his reputation ruined over a dreadful event that he had reported to his superiors three times. Very convenient to pass the buck downward isn't it Board? A good Captain goes down with his ship, he doesn't leave his crew on board to drown. Shame on the mucky mucs at Penn State. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Love JoePa, shame on the mediaBy LaylagraA hilarious spoof of the way the incompetent "doofus" media treated Penn State and Joe Paterno. Yes AJ the victims, the university and JoePa deserved better.

Joe Paterno The Musical: A Satire is a funny, devastating, blistering look at what happened at Penn State when the news media, politicians, university trustees, and the NCAA abandoned the constitutional right to due process in order to serve their various self interests. Mike McQueary sings about his philosophy on testifying under oath. A woman in pearls sings an aria of woe and longing. The true story of Mark Emmert's hair is revealed. And who knew that Louis Freeh was L'il Louie the rapper? This 11-act play, with a cast of dozens, includes the deceased and presumed deceased and the imprisoned. It will likely offend the few it does not entertain. So be it. A.J. Smith
