Dr. Sam Grossman : Jokes, The Very Best of the Internet before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Jokes, The Very Best of the Internet:

Being a collector, it was no problem for me to accumulate the many jokes I received via e-mail after passing them in to most of the people in my address book. Then after much prodding by close friends to put the jokes in book form, I succumbed, and the rest is history. Whoa! This actually took some doing. First, I categorized the hundreds of jokes into seven main headings, then I culled what I considered unworthy entries, to present what I think is the finest collection of jokes ever assembled. If laughter is truly a great healer, then you can expect to laugh yourself into a longer life by reading this book - ENJOY!

About the Author Dr. Grossman was graduated from Michigan State University's College of Veterinary Medicine in 1943. After two years of State and Federal Disease Control work, he spent two years in the United States Armed Forces. He established a veterinary practice in the Detroit area and after forty-six years, he sold his practice and worked part-time assisting the veterinarian who bought his practice, and he is a Lifetime Member of The American Veterinary Medical Association and The Southeastern Michigan Veterinary Medical Association. Dr. Grossman was married to his childhood sweetheart, Charlotte for over sixty-two years before her death in 2004. He and Charlotte were blessed with three wonderful children: Mark, Laurel and Janet. In addition to this book, Dr. Grossman has two other books in publication: entitled, "JOKES, THE VERY BEST OF THE INTERNET" and "THE NIGHT I KILLED THE KLEENEX AND OTHER TRUE STORIES"
