Turned out to be just a collection of old black white newspaper comic strips interspersed with somewhat related quotations. Read this book on my Fire HD 10, and it worked better in portrait than landscape, but even then the comics were a bit to hard to read because of the small size.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Golf Cartoons Really Hit HomeBy Charles Mohoney (Eddie)This book "Just Fore Laughs" is filled with delightful cartoons about the world of golf. I think everybody that plays the game of golf will find him/her self in one or more sections of the book. The quotations that go with cartoons are cute and appropriate for the cartoon ... for example, the section on Seniors shows Beetle Bailey's General Halftrack leaping out of bed and proclaiming that he feels young and strong and that nothing will stop him from succeeding on this day while his wife stays in bed and says "You're playing golf, right?" The quotation accompanying the cartoon is by Michael de Montaigne and says "Let us take care that age does not make more wrinkles on our spirit than on our face." Another cartoon is Jeff MacNelly's Shoe hitting his ball into a water hazard while his fiend says his swing is instant bogey ... just add water. The accompanying quotation is from Henry Wassworth Longfellow .. "From the waterfall he named her, Minnehaha, Laughing Water." This is a gift type book and it's pretty thick for its' type with more that 150 pages and a lot or golf cartoons. It's priced very well at $14.95 so it makes a great gift for anybody that plays golf and realizes how absurd the game can be sometimes.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great Little Golf BookBy Don MorrisThis is a great little golf book with a great group of golf cartoons covering just about every aspect of the game. I produce a newsletter for our local club and I intend to use some of the material in the book in our monthly publication. Neat book and really good price.

From the first tee to the nineteenth hole, here's a collection of above-par cartoons and comic strips featuring favorite cartoon characters on the links, in the rough, and out of luck when it comes to the game of golf. Includes eagle shot entries from such beloved cartoons as: Calvin Hobbes Peanuts Garfield Beetle Bailey In the Bleachers The Wizard of Id and many more!

From Publishers Weekly This collection of quotations and comic strips explores the many moods of the frustrating, inexplicably addictive pastime known as golf. Anyone who has read a newspaper in the past 50 years will recognize the characters: Hi and Lois, Drabble, Beetle Bailey, Garfield, the Peanuts gang, Hagar the Horrible and the like. The humor is decidedly more gentle than cutting: Hagar conceals the fact that his invasion of Scotland is an excuse to golf there; Hi returns home to Lois stewing over a lousy afternoon on the links. The quotations have little to do with the game, however (for example, the "Aliens" category includes the familiar but highly non-golf related introduction to the Star Trek television series, which reads, "Space-the final frontier... These are the voyages of the starship Enterprise"). Why this quotation is included is a mystery, as is the reason why a section called "Aliens" is even in a book about golf. These puzzlers reinforce the impression that Dennison found a pile of comics that referenced the game and then found quotations that could accompany them, however loose the connection. Overall, this seems to be a book created more out of love of the game than love of comics, making it a collection that only golf fanatics will love.
