I find myself laughing out loud until my stomach hurts. Fran has a great way of telling a story. You feel like you are right there with them.

Most of us know that one person who has a knack for turning everyday life events into humorous anecdotes. Fran Gruen has been that person for family and friends for years, sharing her life journey from a slightly different perspective than “normal.” Fran’s folksy style brings you along for the ride as though you were sitting right next to her for adventures such as a cross-country train trip from hell, an uncomfortable medical procedure, or a road rally gone terribly wrong.

About the AuthorFran Gruen is a retired medical technologist who worked in hospital, clinic and research labs for more than forty years. She lives in Green Bay, Wisconsin, where she enjoys gardening and being owned by her cats.
