Ross Petras, Kathryn Petras : The 365 Stupidest Things Ever Said Page-A-Day Calendar 2017 before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised The 365 Stupidest Things Ever Said Page-A-Day Calendar 2017:

There are more "good" days than "bad" days so far. Some of the submissions just make you shake your head with our stupid people can be. It's a good buy for somebody looking for a desk calendar, but know your audience. There are some swear words occasionally. It's not fully safe-for-work...0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. I have been buying these every year for the past ...By Walrus63I have been buying these every year for the past 15 years they never fail to make me laugh. This is a calendar for anybody everybody.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. It is as stupid as advertisedBy Mr. BakerIt is as stupid as advertised. For several years now my wife and I have begun every Saturday over coffee as I read the weeks worst. Usually puts a happy spin on the rest of the day. Although sometimes it leaves us speechless and we just shake our heads.

It's a game that will ultimately be decided by the final outcome. — sportscaster Martin TylerThe perennially bestselling calendar for 23 years, The 365 Stupidest Things Ever Said delivers a year of so-dumb-you- can't-believe-they-actually-said-it inanity from entertainers, sports stars, media personalities, and, oh, those politicians: A commitment and a promise are not the same thing—New Mexico governor Bruce King. Plus memorable headlines (When Is Cinco De Mayo?), strange insurance claims (The pedestrian ran for the pavement, but I got him), and helpful office signs (Dry Paint).

About the Author Kathryn and Ross Petras, sister and brother, are great curators of quotes whose calendar, The 365 Stupidest Things Ever Said, has sold over 4.6 million copies. Kathryn Petras lives in Seattle.
