UnreadableBy Rita MacLeanI viewed the sample but found that all the jokes had gibberish letters inserted so, I guess, not to spoil the jokes for purchasers. Since offers Kindle users the book on the lending library, I downloaded it to check it out, and guess what...? Same gibberish. So actually, I am not actually reviewing the content of the book but confirming that you can't judge a book by its cover.

If you've ever heard a Jewish, Blond, Italian, Irish, Blond, Libyan, Catholic, Mexican, Polish, Australian, Norwegian, or an Essex Girl, Newfie, Mother-in-Law, or joke aimed at a minority, this book of barber jokes is for you. In this not-so-original book, The Best Ever Book of Barber Jokes; Lots and Lots of Jokes Specially Repurposed for You-Know-Who, Mark Young takes a whole lot of tired, worn out jokes and makes them funny again. The book of barber jokes is so unoriginal, it's original. And, if you don't burst out laughing from at least one barber joke in this book, there's something wrong with you. This book has so many barber jokes, you won't know where to start. For example: Why do barbers wear slip-on shoes? You need an IQ of at least 4 to tie a shoelace.  A barber and his wife were sitting around the breakfast table one lazy Sunday morning. The barber turned to his wife and said: "When I die, I want you to sell all my stuff." "Why would you want me to do that?," asked his wife. "I figure that you'll eventually remarry, and I don't want some asshole using my stuff," replied the barber. The barber's spouse said: "What makes you think I'd marry another asshole?"  Did you hear about the barber who wore two jackets when he painted his house? The instructions on the can said: "Put on two coats."  Why do barbers laugh three times when they hear a joke? Once when it is told, once when it is explained to them, and once when they understand it.
